1. Ukrainian Communist leaders in Argentina are reported to be dissatisfied with the results of progress among the feminine organizations, which, as a result of the First Ukrainian Communist Congress held in Buenos Aires in July 1946, were grouped under a Feminine Central Committee. It was expected at that time that the Feminine Central Committee would mold local Ukrainian women Communists into an efficient organization for spreading Communist doctrine among their own sex. The feminine organizations are now being criticized by Jose Tkaczuk and other Ukrainian Communist leaders for "bourgeois complacency" and lack of zeal.
2. As a result of this criticism, experienced Ukrainian male Communists are now presiding over the meetings of the different feminine committees and organizations. In some cases the elected leaders have been dismissed and substitutes installed by orders from above. At a meeting in May 1947 of the Comité de Ayuda "Tania," Anastasia Kapral, representative of the Feminine Central Committee was ignored, and Basilio Ogorek and Nicolas Lopiszka dismissed the board of directors. In their place Ogorek and Lopiszka ordered a new one of their own choice.
3. The Feminine Central Committee has been ordered to obtain the desired results before the Second Ukrainian Communist Congress is held in September 1947.
